PROJECT MANAGEMENT

Personalized training courses on each sector
(Pharmaceutical, Real Estate, Consumer goods and others)

The increasing complexity of the business processes and interfunctional relationships, suggests the necessity for managers to face more and more articulated projects, which are often dealt with by different sections of the company.

The coordination of such a varied working team requires agreement and synthesis between different company functions as well as dealing structurally with the projects to guarantee a verification of results. In this time of transformation MERCURIO MISURA is side by side with companies, supporting them in the acquisition of competences which enable them to carry on complex projects.

To further these intentions, MERCURIO MISURA has made available seminars on Project Management, useful to all team components in the project.

The basics of Project Management techniques are not only required from the Project Manager, acting as an “orchestra director”, but also required from all the active participants.

Our courses, in alignment with the Standards of PMI-Project Management Institute, offer to participants information, knowledge and insight into the following themes:

- Project Management Technique in every phase of the Project life cycle, from design to planning, from developing to monitoring
- Tools and techniques to use in any phase of the project
- Project Management Role in organizing a Company
- Specific competences and skills, required from Project Managers
- Communication: psychological and relational aspects in dealing with an inter-functional team

MERCURIO MISURA is available to offer the opportunity to personally evaluate how we can be a valid partner for your Company.
